Packet # 7

These forms must not be used to engage in the unauthorized practice of law. The court is not responsible for (1) actions taken by the users of these forms or (2) users' reliance upon the instructions or information provided.

IMPORTANT!

This form should only be used if your divorce does not involve children. If you and your spouse have minor children together either by birth or adoption, STOP. You must use Packet # 4, Divorce With Children Decree.

GENERAL INFORMATION & Frequently Asked Questions

What is a Decree?

The Decree is the final step in your divorce. It is a legal order from the court (signed by a judicial officer) that ends your marriage. It also determines the rights and responsibilities between you and your spouse after the divorce.

A decree states:

- Who is given what property
- Which debts will be paid by each person
- Who will pay spousal maintenance and how much

What do I include in my Decree?

The court cannot order something in your Decree that you did not ask for in your Petition.

There are two exceptions:

1. Your spouse has already agreed to the change, or
2. The change is clearly a benefit to your spouse

It is a good idea to have the Petition with you as a guide while you fill out this form.

What if I want something different from what I asked for in my Petition?

If your situation has changed since you filed your Petition, and now you want to make an adjustment, you cannot do so with the Decree.

You must first:

- Fill out and re-file Packet # 5, Divorce Petition without Children with your new requests
- Serve the amended Petition on your spouse, just as you did with the original. See Packet # 10, Service on the Other Party.

What is “community property”?

Arizona is a community property state. This means that almost all property that you and your spouse get during the marriage probably belongs to both of you. It also means that you are probably both responsible for any debt you take on during the marriage. Community property and debt must be divided between you and your spouse at the time of your divorce.

What is “separate property”?

Separate property is not community property—it only belongs to one spouse. Property received as a gift or inheritance is considered separate property and usually belongs only to the spouse that received the gift or inheritance. Property owned before the marriage is also considered separate property and usually belongs only to the spouse who bought the property before the marriage. “Separate debts” are debts acquired before the marriage. They should be paid by the spouse who brought the debt into the marriage.

Do I need a lawyer’s help?

There are times when more complex legal problems will come up, and you may want to get the advice of a lawyer. There are lawyers who will help you help yourself. This means that they will only charge you for giving you the help that you need: you can complete the court forms on your own or ask the lawyer for help.

For more information, call the Law Library and Resource Center at \(520\) 724-8456.

This symbol is a warning. It can mean a few different things:

- The topic can be confusing and you may need to ask a lawyer for help
- You may need to make sure that something is done

Whenever you see this symbol, make sure you read the information carefully and understand it fully.

Do I have to obey the Decree?

Yes, you must obey your divorce decree. The decree has the same authority as any other court order and must be taken seriously. If either you or your spouse does not follow the decree, the other party can ask the court for help to enforce the terms.

Any party that does not follow the orders of the divorce decree can be found in “contempt of court.” Contempt of court means that you have disobeyed or disrespected the authority of the court, and you could be ordered to pay a fine or serve time in jail.

- You have the option of selecting that spousal maintenance will be paid through an Income Withholding Order (“IWO”). An IWO is an order that is sent by the Court to the payor’s employer and directs the employer to automatically deduct support payments (e.g., spousal maintenance or child support) from the payor’s paycheck every time he or she is paid. The employer then sends the support payment to the Support Clearinghouse who then sends the child support to the payee. If you want your support payments to be paid by IWO, then you need to submit a completed IWO to the Court for the judge to sign.
